ALMS 4 Users Interface Overview

✦ This presentation will provide an overview of some of the changes and new features in the ALMS 4, including:

- Changes in ALMS 4 Learner User Interface from ALMS 3
- ALMS 4 Terminology
- ALMS 4 Homepage layout
- ALMS 4 Homepage Course Catalog Search
- ALMS 3 Enrollments/ 4 In-Progress Learning – Layout
- In-Progress Learning Action and More Action links
- Detailed Training Record
- Printing Certificates

Changes in the ALMS 4 Learner User Interface from ALMS 3

- ⊕ Current users of the ALMS will notice some differences between ALMS 3 and the new ALMS 4. These differences include some areas of expanded functionality and changes to the User Interface (UI) to make using this version easier and more efficient for the user. This document merely presents an overview of the differences. A fully functional help application is included with ALMS with 2 levels of products (Checklists and Annotated Screen Shots) to assist users in completing their tasks. The Army Training Help Desk (ATHD) will also be able to assist users who are not able to resolve their issues using the on-line products.

- ⊕ New or different learner UI pages in ALMS 4 include:
 - Most of the UI pages will have a slightly different look and feel. We have tried to maintain as much of the old structure and terminology as possible, but you may see new menu items or tabs which represent new or renamed functions. Until the uses for these functions have been defined, you may safely ignore things you do not recognize.
 - The ALMS 4 Home Page has several new features. They include being able to add a photograph to your profile, configure your Home Page, return to your home page with a My Home button, continue your last launched course via a link, and utilize a search capability with a new help link, along with other features.
 - The catalog search has a new look and some new functions. Most of these are fairly intuitive. The most significant is the ability to search by Courses and Certifications.

- Search results also have a new look that should be intuitive and easier to interpret.
- The registration page has a new look. You will be able to select which Topics you wish to take.
- One of the most significant changes is the word “Transcript” which applies to courses and certifications. The term “Transcript” now applies exclusively to Course and Certification level completions and status. The term Detailed Training Record will apply to Topic level registrations and completions only.
- Printing of Completion Certificates is a more simplified process.
- There are others, but they do not affect critical functions and are generally easy to figure out. Copies of the help files can be requested through the PMO or ATHD.

⊕ We hope that using the new ALMS will continue to be an efficient and enjoyable experience.

The screenshot shows the 'My Enrollments' page in ALMS 3. The top navigation bar includes 'My Home', 'Individual Training Plans', 'Training' (highlighted), 'My Reviews', 'My Tasks and Gap Analysis', 'Communities', 'My Profile', and 'Reports'. On the left, a sidebar lists 'Enrollments', 'Training Catalog', 'All Training Activity', 'Training Requests', and 'Approvals Inbox'. The main content area has tabs for 'Cataloged Learning' and 'External Learning'. Below these is a 'Sort' dropdown set to 'By Registration Date' and a checkbox for 'Group courses by course/phase/certifications and curricula'. A search box is present. Two course entries are listed, each with a 'Launch' button and a 'more actions' link. The course details include: 'Structured Self-Developme... (00020328)', 'Duration: 00:00 hours', 'Status: Confirmed (Registration Date: 01/04/2011)', and 'Course Iteration Name: Structured Self Development_Level 4 (SSDIV_Draft)'.
